buoy, made 100% from marine waste

Would you be interested in selling "buoy", a plastic product that looks like a painting, in your store?

buoy, an upcycling brand for marine plastic waste, sells products wholesale.

Our products are plastic products that vary in color and pattern from piece to piece.

We want to make buoy, which is made of marine plastic waste, into a plastic product that cannot be thrown away,

We think it is important for people to have the experience of picking up a buoy in a store and choosing it, just as if they were looking for their favorite painting.

We are pleased to contact you.

If you are interested in handling buoy products, please feel free to contact us

Based on user feedback, the new coaster, which will be launched in January 2023, will now have the place of drifting on the back side of the coaster.

buoy product features

Each one is a different color and pattern

We have developed our own manufacturing process that utilizes the colors of collected marine plastic waste without adding any coloring. Since the melting process differs depending on the type of plastic used, the patterned atmosphere differs each time. Please enjoy the one-of-a-kind pattern created by chance on the beach at that particular time.

Weight of product = weight of garbage

The weight of each product is directly the weight of marine debris.

You can actually feel the actual ocean plastic waste that has washed ashore in Japan.

Sold with "place of collection of raw materials" indicated.

We purchase materials from beach clean-up groups active in various parts of Japan. We hope that through this product, people will think about the areas where marine plastic waste drifts ashore in Japan and the people who are engaged in litter pickup activities.

Almost 100% marine plastic waste made in Japan

Molded without any mixture except coated film* to prevent contaminants from being washed away from marine plastic waste.
